Fathers On PTA Program

BELLE GLADE—The fathers took over the programming of the Belle Glade Parent-Teacher Association meeting Monday night, all the way to refreshments served by the ninth grade fathers under the chairmanship of Frank Dooley.

Bob Lanier was general chairman of Fathers' Night activities. The devotion was given by Tommy Chappell. The "Bellegladians," a vocal quartet composed of Bob Willingham, Bill Thiebaud, Fred Down and Bob Lanier, made their first appearance in several selections, accompanied on the piano by Miss Ouida Lanier. Miss Lanier also presented a piano solo.

Mrs. E. D. Humphries, president, conducted the business meeting. The recommendation of the Executive Board that the PTA purchase three coffee makers for the teachers' lounges was tabled after discussion. Mrs. Humphries announced the appearance of J. J. Litchfield, who will be term of recording secretary after the resignation of Mrs. Walter Thomas.

Mrs. Hazel Litchfield announced that the PTA girls will serve a spaghetti supper on Friday from 5:30 to 9:30 at the school cafeteria. Tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75c for children six through 12. The money is to be used for school projects.

Speeders Warned To Expect Worst

PAHOKEE — Speeding and careless illegal parking within the city limits is going to bring local residents a fine batch of tickets, Police Chief Leon Guthrie warned this week.

With the completion of major street parking designations, and with the din of complaints loud in their ears, members of the City Council have instructed the chief to tighten up on traffic violators.

Speeders in the residential areas especially were warned, and Guthrie said tickets will be issued to speeding motorists without regard for excuses such as "The children will be late for school."

TOM WATSON, JR. HERE FOR CAMPAIGN STARTING MONDAY

BELLE GLADE — Tom Watson, Jr., former operator of Radio Station WSWN, now a layman Christian missionary, is back in the Glades for a two-week series of evangelistic messages beginning Monday night.

Watson will speak at meetings nightly at 7:30 except Sunday at the old theater in Belle Glade, and for the two-week period will also conduct a Bible study group at 10 each morning.

The meetings will be sponsored by the Everglades Christian Laymen's Association and supported by the ministerial alliance.

Watson took his family to the Orient three and a half years ago to become a missionary, and after two years of negotiation with the South Korean government won a franchise to construct in Seoul a powerful missionary radio station which will broadcast the Christian Gospel and the message of the Free World to the people of Communist China, Manchuria, Mongolia and Siberia.

SCHOOL BIGWIGS ON PTA PANEL

PAHOKEE—An array of top men in the Palm Beach County school system took part in a panel on school problems at the Pahokee Parent-Teacher Association meeting Monday night.

County School Supt. Howell Watkins, School Board Chairman George Slaton, Board Member T. W. Knight, and Pahokee Principal Clyde Canipe ranged through subjects including eligibility for public school education program in the school, school supplies and equipment furnished with state and county funds, and those to be purchased locally, and curriculum problems. James W. Vann, PTA president, presided.

$102,000 EFSL 1954 Dividends

BELLE GLADE — Dividends paid by Everglades Federal Savings and Loan Association in 1954 totaled $102,000 according to Hugh J. Bratley, executive vice president and secretary of the firm.

The dividends represented earnings on savings, Bratley said. Bratley said that the number of savers and investors had increased in 1954 and that company assets were near the $700,000 mark.

According to the company records the assets have increased at the rate of nearly a million dollars a year for the past two years and fell short of the million mark by only a small percentage during 1954.

NEW SOCIAL SECURITY ACTION MAY EASE PICKER TAX RULES

Glades Sub-Courthouse 'Get-Together' Urged

A plea for Glades cities to get together on a sub-courthouse site before the 1955 legislature meets, "or else we'll have to wait another two years" was voiced Monday night by Manning I. Keen, Glades businessman.

Appearing before Pahokee City Council, Keen asked the progress of inter-city planning for the proposed sub-courthouse, and received the assurance of the Pahokee governing body that it would get to work on the matter with the Belle Glade and South Bay commissions.

Council President F. S. Parrish told Keen that in a three-city officials meeting before Belle Glade Mayor Harold Rabin became ill last summer, that Pahokee and South Bay representatives had agreed that a site on new Highway 717, on county property near Pahokee Airport, was desirable. Belle Glade spokesmen recommended that the site be just out of Chosen, Parrish said.

MOVE OUT IF PORT BALKS?

PAHOKEE — If the Port of Palm Beach Authority doesn't want to cooperate on the new breakwater project, withdrawal of this area from the Port tax district should be given "definite thought," was the suggestion made to City Council Monday night.

Inman W. Weeks, speaking as a taxpayer, told Council that if no assistance is going to be given from the tax district on repaying the $200,000 interest-free Internal Improvement loan to build the breakwater, then it is time to stop paying taxes to the Port and use the money locally.

"We are the only town on the lake with a waterfront, and we owe it to the whole area to develop this waterfront," Weeks said.

Breakwater Discussed

He, W. A. Keen, and several members of the Pahokee Boat Club were present for the session at which Council turned down the Gee & Jensen, Inc. proposal to do the engineering for the breakwater at a 6% fee.

Keen said that "people here pay millage to the Port Authority" and asked why there was no help forthcoming from the Port on the engineering. He also urged Council to take action to obtain federal funds to supplement the breakwater construction with "great harbor" facilities for Pahokee and Belle Glade harbor would be not only shipping and tourism but would "protect the levee that protects the crops," Keen (Continued on Page 8)

Condemnations Up At So. Bay

SOUTH BAY—Condemnation proceedings against property owners failing to bring their properties up to code will be discussed Monday at an adjourned meeting of last Monday's City Commission meeting, officials decided here.

At Monday's regular commission meeting, Mayor S. J. Wher and Commissioners J. F. Roberts, W. M. Jeffries and J. K. White agreed that action was required to rid the community of dangerous and health-threatening buildings. City Attorney Claude Jones will be instructed to draw up necessary condemnation resolutions based on inspection reports of Chief of Police R. C. White.

Solution Sought

Commissioners are seeking a solution to the traffic congestion and safety problems brought about by the present on-street harbor loading ramp.

Decision is to be reached about accepting an offer made by R. O. C. Mercurio to give the city a block of land in the quarters upon which a suitable off-the-ramp steam can be built, and which the Mercurio Fishery property offered at $1 a year to the present loading zone problem. Commissioners said.

Commissioners decided to postpone the question of an election to determine the issue of public works bonds until further investigation is made.

Impounded Car

Attorney Jones was given authority to "proceed according to state statutes" in the matter of the 1952 Mercury confiscated Dec. 28 from Jerome Bland Bland was found guilty in Mayor's Court of driving while intoxicated and transporting illegal liquor. He was fined a total of $500 and the car was impounded. The question now to be solved is the status of the ownership of the car.

In other permits the commission is to handle and approve building permits for C. A. Whitman, sr., and C. E. Critchfield.

A Social Security policy turnaround in Washington apparently has taken Glades growers and contractors off the hook on deducting social security from pickers' wages on individuals to whom they do not expect to pay as much as $100 in wages this year.

The change was made at a meeting in Washington last Friday, and was announced by R. C. Gehrken, jr., manager of the Social Security Administration field office, West Palm Beach, in an address before the Pahokee Lions Club Tuesday.

Reading from a telegram received from the Social Security Administration in Washington, Gehrken enumerated new provisions of the policy.

To Congress First reaction in the Glades was disbelief that the policy had changed with such lightning-like speed. However, several of the larger growers in the area said that pending official, written word to their companies from the Internal Revenue department, they planned to continue making and matching the deductions from the daily pay of field labor.

3 INSPECTOR TALKS MONDAY

BELLE GLADE — Interviews with three applicants for the position of city building, electrical and plumbing inspector are set for Monday.

Mayor Harold Rabin, in the regular city commission meeting Wednesday, heard 16 applications read for the job. Commissioners Zack Ingram, Herman Close, Walter Ashley and H. O. Carleton agreed to hear three out of the 16 applications merited close study.

The applicants, W. L. Cunningham, Belle Glade; John M. Casey, West Palm Beach; and R.M.O. Jacobsen, Winter Park will be invited to meet with the commission Monday evening.

20 Manager Applicants Wednesday's deadline for receipt of applications for the position of city manager found more than 20 applications on City Clerk Frank Ammons' desk. Commission made no decision in its regular meeting as to when these applications will be reviewed.

Wednesday's meeting was recessed until last night at which time the option to purchase the health center site was considered, the ordinance licensing itinerant merchants presented for the first reading, and consideration given to hiring one extra fireman.

Russell McIntosh, attorney for Groner-Heller, Inc., appeared before the commissioners Wednesday to request extension of time for his client, proprietors of the Cotton Club, to comply with city sanitary codes. McIntosh said that further compliance with city demands was structurally impossible, and that the premises of the Cotton Club were subject of a law suit currently in court.

City commissioners felt that Groner-Heller, Inc. had tried to comply with the sanitary code under handicap and that the city should not be expected to revoke Commission decision. However, request the city building inspector immediately to inspect the premises of the Cotton Club, they are structurally a hazard, he is to post a red notice and close the doors of the building. Evening Class SET THIS MONTH

The Palm Beach County Vocational School, in cooperation with Clyde A. Canipe, principal of Pahokee high school, is planning to offer evening instruction in bookkeeping and shorthand, according to Kenneth F. Johnson, director of vocational education for the county.

Courses are tentatively scheduled to start this month, and so that classes may be set up according to the demands of the community, Johnson requested that those persons interested in this instruction call the high school, Phone Pahokee 360.

This instruction, part of the school board's vocational education program, is for adults 16 years of age or over who are not regularly enrolled in high school. No tuition fee will be charged for these courses. However, there is a small registration fee, and students must furnish their own supplies, according to Johnson. Starting dates will be announced later.

Special Article On Glades By FPL

The Glades was the subject of a special article in a four-page supplement of the Florida Power & Light Co.'s "Sunshine Service News" this week.

The January issue of the FPL house-organ featured text, drawings, and pictures about the entire Glades area.

Steve Harman visited the Glades from FPL's Miami office while working on the article. He said that the Glades story is one of a series to be carried as News supplements, and to be incorporated later into a book.

Good Luck, Mr. Lawmaker

We wish a successful and happy first session in Congress to Rep. Paul Rogers as he gets settled in the wilds of Capitol Hill. We're sure he needs no reminder of the high standards he must meet as the legislator succeeding his father. The best wishes of his Glades constituents accompany him to Washington.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Sen. George Smathers

WASHINGTON... Congress moved off to a deliberate start last week, but there is more or less a marking of time until the President's specific proposals reach the floor. Next week we will receive the economic report and then the President's budget. It is likely that the budget message will carry something of a shock. It is clear that deficit spending will continue this year, that the administration has not yet balanced the budget, and that additional tax relief is not in the picture.

Meanwhile, the picture is not yet clear as to what may be expected of the Democratic-controlled Congress. As our leaders in the Senate announced the other day, we must give specific attention to specific proposals and judge them solely upon the national interests. Some Presidential proposals will be adopted, some will be substantially altered, others will be discarded. "SMATHERS' PROGRAM". In addition to my work on three committees, I have already drafted a number of legislative proposals which I have introduced in the Senate.

My first series of bills relates to Latin America, and the need for bringing the United States and our Good Neighbor to the South closer together, in friendship, culture and trade. I agree with the administration's announced aim of relying upon private investments for the development of Latin American resources. What we have to do, however, as a prerequisite to substantial private investment, is to help those countries lay the groundwork for a sound economy, which will result in more stable governments, which in turn will make that country attractive to investors and new business.

The revitalized industries of Europe are today aggressively moving into all the Latin American countries, granting extensive credit on easy terms in exchange for markets. Friendship and trade go hand in hand, and we should not be slow ourselves to become so preoccupied with Europe and Asia that we lose Latin America from right under our nose.

IT COULDN'T HAPPEN: Last week, Florida's Democratic members made a radio recording to help boost Paul Rogers for Congress. The tape was to run only 15 minutes. Ike Carlson, the impresario, faced the problem of diplomatically containing the speakers within the set time. Holding down the politician would be no mean job — let alone, eight. But when the last man was winding up his testimony for Paul Rogers, the clock on the studio wall still gave them more than four minutes. They had talked — the combined group — only 10 minutes and 46 seconds. Its some sort of record. It must be. It just must be.

LOOKING AHEAD: Congressman Dante Fascell, newly arrived in Washington from Miami, is catching on quickly. His new office may not be completely furnished yet, but he does have the Miami papers on the table for visitors — in case they have to wait. And for the generation who will first have a chance to vote for him in 1970 — forward looking Fascell has placed on his reading table a copy of "Bugs Bunny".

PERSISTENCE PAYS: Last summer we told how hard Congressman Dan Rostenkowski was working to get on the Ways and Means Committee. He buttonholed every stray congressman he could find on the "Hill" during the recess. He wrote to some others. He talked to close friends of others. When he talked to Sam Rayburn, the man with the power, he got the official word. Tunnel gossip says that Syd might not have been Rayburn's first choice for the job — but he had done such a good job of lining up votes that he had the job cinched. So, rather than have a fight about it — he was put on the official slate and was elected without opposition. First Florida Congressman ever to hold a seat on this important committee.

TEACHER MEETS PUPIL: Everyone coming to work in Washington for the first time has a lot to learn. They all admit it. But, few find an old school teacher on hand ready to help them. It did happen to C. F. Batchelder, secretary to Congressman Bill Cramer. A few years don't count' back, when "Batch" was a student at Orlando high school, his English teacher was none other than Billy Matthews, present Congressman from Gainesville. MAIL, MONEY AND RAILROADS

"The Most Mail for the Least Money", issued by the Association of American Railroads, describes the cooperation between the railroads and the Post Office department for the fastest dispatch of mail at the most reasonable cost.

Filled with facts, the book points out that one twenty-fourth of a cent stamp goes for railroad handling of the mail and that railroad-moved first class surface mail postal revenues exceeded postal expenses by more than 39 million dollars last year.

Railroad-owned and -operated conveyor belts in Cincinnati and St. Louis are examples of the mechanization provided by the railroads for expediting the mail from sender to addressee. Conveyor belts extend from the St. Louis railroad terminal to the post office as part of the mail handling facility. At a cost of 3 million dollars a complex system of gravity flow ramps, conveyor belt movers, and tracking devices carry mail sacks 24 hours a day at this division point in mail routing.

A fleet of 14,000 railway cars transports mail from city to city. Of this number 2,600 are Railway Post Office cars constructed by the railroads in accordance with Post Office department specifications. They are used by postal employees to sort mail en route, and to pick up mail at numerous way stations or "on the fly" from mechanical arms when the shipment does not warrant stopping the train.

According to the pamphlet on mail handling, the railroads separate, store, route, load, unload, transfer and deliver the mail for the price paid them by the government for their services. Whether one sack of mail is handled a day, as is the custom in small communities, or whether 200,000 sacks per day, as in New York City, the close cooperation of railroad and post office assures efficient dispatch of mail.

Rice Drier Needs Buyer, Lessor

Coincident with the USDA announcement this week that a rice growers' quota referendum will be held Jan. 28 was the word that the Glades is in danger of losing its nearly-new rice drier.

Unless a buyer or lessor is found for the 34 ft. tower drier, which has been operated about four months in its year of existence, it will probably be moved to Texas. Unfavorable weather conditions for rice-growing have limited the use of the drier.

Although it is designed primarily for drying rice, the drier is an important area addition for drying corn and grass, as well. The Belle Glade member of Commerce office, Phone 2745, will be glad to give more details regarding the drier, according to Secretary Edwin Young.

3 INSPECTOR —

(Continued From Page 1) This will mean that the Groner-Heller company will keep its license but will not have a premise in which to operate.

Wall's Recommendations. Bidding Inspector Ira Wall presented recommendations to the city commission outlining a long range building program for the Shuler, Estate properties, known formerly as the Almax, Inc. properties. Almax has returned the property to the estate and a plan looking forward to replacing all of the properties by 1961 was approved by the commissioners.

Belle Glade Motors was awarded the contract to provide the city a truck chassis, cab and hoist on a low bid of $3,149. De Bolia's Truck Equipment Co., West Palm Beach, was low bidder on a trash and garbage body to go on the chassis mentioned above. Question arose as to whether the hoist already on the truck would accommodate the De Bolia's body. Commissioner Ingram was given authority to decide whether to keep the hoist or replace it with another available from De Bolia's. In either case the low bid for the body of $763, with or without the hoist at $134, was still below any other bid received.

Planning Board. Commission adopted recommendation that property north of Beverly Park be zoned for duplexes rather than apartments.

The board further recommended that the question of multiple family dwelling use be brought to the Zoning Board of Appeals. That body could grant special exception for variance use. Commission agreed to the Planning Board's recommendation and accepted it.

The Civil Air Patrol cadets were granted permission to use the Country Club facilities without charge for their enrollment dance Jan. 21. LOOKING TO THE FACTS...

Dr. C. M. Thompson, University of Kentucky, in an article in "Feedstuffs" said: "Most roughages of low quality are low in protein and this nutrient has to be supplied in adequate amounts before one can hope to make an improvement in supplementing low quality roughages."

In feed lot trials steers weighing initially about 500 lbs. and receiving a full feed of corn made significantly greater weight gains when supplemented with 1.5 lbs. protein supplement per steer per day as compared to comparable steers receiving either 0.5 or 1.0 lbs. of protein supplement per head per day."

Now, CONSUMERS FEED brings you these facts from the experts of the GLADES industry.

worthy of the name you trust

DITHANE M-22, a new addition to the family of DITHANE fungicides, will give your fields the same dependable disease control you expect and get from DITHANE Z-78 and DITHANE D-14

On Tomatoes:
DITHANE M-22 controls Gray leaf spot, Late blight and other troublesome diseases. DITHANE M-22 helps to keep the foliage greener—for profit-making extra yields. We recommend DITHANE M-22 on an alternating schedule with DITHANE Z-78, thus obtaining the double benefits of Zinc and Manganese.

On Potatoes, Celery, Eggplants, Peppers:
DITHANE M-22 controls Early and Late blight.

On Carrots:
DITHANE M-22 keeps carrots free of Leaf blight and Cercospora leaf spot.

On Gladioli:
DITHANE M-22 controls Stemphylium leaf spot.

DITHANE M-22 is available as a ready-to-use wettable powder or as a dust, with or without insecticides. Insist on Rohm & Haas DITHANE M-22 when you want manganese ethylene biddithiocarbamate (maneb).
